A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The Sons of the American Revolution has been active in keeping public focus on the welfare of our nation since 1889. Tennessee members have played a major part in its activities from the first.

Our organization is history-conscious, and our members, drawn from descendants of patriots who assisted in establishing American Independence, are proud of their heritage. More importantly, we are devoted to a preservation of the ideals which animated the founders of our Republic.

Through awards to students for good citizenship, through making our views known to the legislative assemblies which represent us, often through centering our activities around the anniversaries of events of patriotic significance, we seek to keep alive a love for liberty and to prevent the dilution of the rights of American citizens granted in our Constitution. This is our historical mission and these are our current aims.

Members of the Tennessee Society have through the years also contributed greatly of their time, ability and means to the furtherance of the aims and principles of the National Society. The late Frederick W. Millspaugh of Nashville served for many years on the National Board of Trustees, and in 1932 was elected President General of the National Society, serving with distinction in a time of desperate financial straits. Two other Tennesseans have served as National Vice-President's General for the South--Arthur Crownover, Jr., in 1935-1936, and Hugh W. Stallworth in 1953-1954. A number of other members of the Tennessee Society have also represented it on the National Board of Trustees. The National Convention, or Congress as it is known in the Society, also met in Nashville in 1923, the first time the Congress ever met in the South.

The National Society has accepted the invitation of the Tennessee Society to hold the 70th National Congress in Memphis, May 15-18, 1960, as this directory goes to press.

We hope this manual will be especially useful to the four active chapters of the S.A.R. in Tennessee: Andrew Jackson Chapter at Nashville, John Sevier Chapter at Chattanooga, the Upper Cumberland Chapter at Cookeville, and the Memphis Chapter; also, that it will provide a useful source of reference material for members and prospective members everywhere.

We cordially invite inquiries for membership from those eligible; they may be directed to the Executive Secretary of the Tennessee Society, Mrs. Julia Burnett, 3814 Inglewood Circle, South, Nashville 6, Tennessee, or to any member.

We wish to express our special thanks to Mrs. Burnett for the preparation of the manuscript and for the tedious research it necessitated.

H. Martin Nunnelley
